

Stellar Jay is related to the Blue Jay and can be found all across North America, but with a black head and upper body. They are also known as the Long-crested Jay, Mountain Jay, and Pine Jay. As the only crested jay west of the Rocky Mountains it makes sense to be B.C.'s provincial bird.

