

Louis David Riel was a Métis leader who's Red River rebellion aided in Manitoba becoming a Province. He lived in Montana for many years to avoid prosecution. He was hung in 1885 for treason. Many believe he is innocent and a folk hero.

