

Canadian Flag: Parliament first considered creating a national flag in 1925. Not until 1964 did Prime Minister Pearson take the task to heart. Three designs were considered, with Jacques St-Cyrthe's red and white maple leaf being hoisted over parliament hill on February 15, 1965.

