

Lacrosse : Canada's original national sport was lacrosse. It is a game that was played by our native peoples long before Europeans settled here. Often teams were made up of one hundred to a thousand braves per side, and the goals were usually five-hundred yards to one-half mile apart.

