

Mudge Island Lighthouse: As with any maritime province, lighthouses have played and still do play an important role. This light house is one of 27 manned lighthouses operated in British Columbia. The lights and their operators ensure that marine travel, both commercial and pleasure, remains safe.

