

The shield of Prince Edward Island has the lion of Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, and 3 small oak trees which represent the 3 counties of PEI, overlooked by a grand oak which represents Great Britain, a notion borrowed from Virgil's "Parva sub ingenti" (the small under the protection of the great).

