

James Naismith is known as the inventor of basketball. Born in Almonte, Ontario in 1861, he later moved to the United States where he developed the game. Legend has it that basketball was created in an effort to keep a rowdy class of boys in check at the Springfield YMCA.

